White House History Quarterly publishes articles on the history of the White House and its occupants. With the knowledge that the White House is probably the most richly documented house in the world, and the premier symbol of the American presidency, we publish articles in White House History Quarterly that are drawn from these resources as well as firsthand interviews, secondary accounts, and a vast wealth of illustrations of all kinds. We serve a varied readership, both popular and academic, interested in history, architecture, and biography, all of which we present in the context of the White House and its ongoing traditions. White House History Quarterly is not a political forum, although political history may very likely play a part in the subject matter. Circulation: 5000
TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The White House Historical Association encourages advertisements from nonprofit and educational organizations and publishers. White House History Quarterly remains in print indefinitely. We discourage time-sensitive advertisements.

The publisher will not be bound by any conditions or requirements appearing on insertion orders, copy, or contracts that conflict with the provisions of the Display Ad Rates or the policies of the White House Historical Association.
